US3R622860	13-OCT-20_23:03:52	No.46551	I don't know how much truth there is in this - it came by way of comment, but someone with a smile on their face said that it was almost like they had a gameplan for how many infections to find and then they went out with their testing kits to find them. I've heard there's panic in the test and trace system because it's not got enough customers. They need more positives to implicate all their contacts. It would help if people answered their phones, but they're not.
US3R183729	13-OCT-20_23:05:37	No.46552	^46551 Am I right in thinking that two thousand t&t were laid off over this?
US3R622860	13-OCT-20_23:07:01	No.46553	^46552 To be honest they're hiring and firing all the time. A lot of people have been speaking out of turn and there's a feeling that the work is not holding together as a meaningful whole. During this next lockdown they're trying to minimise the amount of care workers who were going to quit anyway and come forward saying the whole thing is a hoax. Very embarrassing and of course impossible to counter. They just have to live with it and trust the media to bury it, and things like Facebook and Twitter.
