

Double Dagger

US3R323591	14-OCT-20_03:27:44	No.70524	"The lockdowns will continue until morale improves."
US3R662832	14-OCT-20_03:35:44	No.70532	The dial is being turned up on the ideological enforcement of the Covid religion. There is already a committed core of people who will wear the mask without further question or comment. They cannot be reasoned with, and may just wear the mask for the rest of their lives. The insanity of the early Christian church comes to mind with those nuns locking themselves away from the world and worshipping the tribulations of 'our Lord', often deliberately damaging themselves to share in 'the passion.' They will feed off each other's hysteria and I'm afraid, it never turns out well. The Devils of Loudun is a compelling piece of history.
US3R323591	14-OCT-20_03:39:10	No.70533	The intelligence of the general public has been weakened to the point where they can no longer construct an argument for the nonsense that is plainly in front of them.
US3R188294	14-OCT-20_03:40:01	No.70534	It looks like a real bold plan. They could get a digital world currency out of this, and a shot at the green idiocy of processing thousands of times more fossil fuel to produce electricity than just burning the ff directly. The cost of energy to you and me is going to become impossible. Private travel will be kaput and people won't heat their homes (or whatever passes for homes in the future.)