

Larp Rising

US3R222862	11-JAN-21_05:19:54	No.8022	If you think you're in a fucking lockdown, you won't believe what it's like at the Zee. They're honestly terrified that something is going to leak and embarrass the hell out of the brass who are liasing with the government. This next month, while Biden is being installed, is like a critical operation. Britain and America are under virtual martial law. We are so heavily compartmentalised here that the job itself is almost pointless. All communication is monitored, you're only allowed three people in a room, we're tested over and over again, and you may not meet anyone outside of work. Anyone caught trying to be a bit clever risks being lifted and put in an isolation facility! I'm not kidding. Some people are genuinely afraid of what's happening and are being given the management's blessing to go and self-isolate! A lot of newsroom staff and regional journalists are not required anyway as the journalism is coming in from off-site somewhere and more or less being relayed straight to broadcast. The hardest workers are the editors who have to coordinate everything that goes out with the government, MI5 and their opposite numbers around the country.
US3R015628	11-JAN-21_05:21:23	No.8023	Coronavirus is a perfect cover, no? Jesus Christ, these people are evil geniuses. They are actually fooling the world! Thank you for your input. Do not compromise yourself under any circumstances. I have a feeling that people might start disappearing completely soon. Please be careful.
US3R222862	11-JAN-21_05:22:34	No.8024	You can believe it, or believe it not, but this is the only connection out I trust right now. Even our private emails are monitored, so this solution is protected in as far as anything can be.