

Larp Rising

US3R166738	23-MAR-20_23:29:02	No.5204	If you think there is going to be a short lockdown and it will all be over and we go back to work laughing, then you've got to think again. They are going to see how it goes, who complains the loudest about it, and how many just do as they're told, and then they'll know how often and how much they can pop it up again all over the country when they have a point to make or a situation to develop. Do not be fooled. This could go on for years.
------------	--------------------	---------	---